

2018 International Wild Pig Conference
 Skirvin Hilton, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma

Technical Training Program
Wichita Mountains National Wildlife Refuge
 Monday, April 16, 2018

A snapshot of the day's events:

8:00am	Charter buses leave the Skirvin
9:30am	Wild Pig Control Demonstrations
NOON	Boxed Lunches Provided
1:30pm	Control Techniques Continued
4:00pm	Tour of Refuge
6:00pm	Welcome BBQ and Pig Roast
10:00pm	Buses back to Skirvin

Control Technique Demonstrations Include:

- Baiting*
- Snares*
- Box traps*
- Corral traps*
- Suspended traps*
- Drop-nets*
- Cellular triggers*
- Thermal scopes*
- Aerial gunning*
- Toxicants*
- Species specific delivery*
- Trapping associations*
- Judas technique*

This year's Technical Training session will be sponsored by the Noble Research Institute and occur at the Wichita Mountains Wildlife Refuge. The training will demonstrate conventional, innovative, and integrated strategies to wild pig control, as well as provide an opportunity to see invasive species work being conducted across the refuge. Participants can expect hands-on training and all demonstrations will be interactive. This is not a comparison of techniques, but a unique chance to see ALL of the resources available for professionals involved in the management of wild pigs. You do not want to miss this essential training opportunity! Transportation and meals included in this educational day.

If you can't join us for the training, you can still jump on the afternoon bus and join us for the bbq!*

It's time to get serious about wild pig management!

